ABSTRACT

Roihanah, Eka. 2024. Sociolect Used In Movie “Cool Runnings” (1993) By Jon Turteltaub. A Thesis. English Education Study Program of Peradaban University. Dra. Sri Murtiningsih, M.Pd.

Keyword: Sociolect, Jargon, Argot, Slang

Sociolect is a variety of language used by a group of people in a particular society, reflecting factors such as social background, education, or group identity, in the context of a movie Sociolect refers to the style of speech, vocabulary, and language patterns used by characters that reflect the social background, culture, or professional group of a particular profession. The purpose of this study is to analyze sociolect jargon, argot and slang and the form of sociolect action in the movie. The movie used is Cool Runnings Movie 1993 by Jhon Turteltaub. The data source is the movie and script of Cool Runnings 1993 by Jhon Turteltaub. In the data collection process, the writer uses the method Simak Bebas Libat Cakap (SBLC). Chaer dan Agustina classify sociolect into eight, namely jargon, argot, slang, acrolek, basilek, vulgar, colloquial and ken. (Chaer and Agustina, 2010: 66). The writer uses Chaer and Agustina's Sociolinguistic theory to determine the type of sociolect jargon, argot and slang in the movie Cool Runnings (1993). In this study, the writers analyzed the data qualitatively and presented the findings descriptively. The movie contains all three types of sociolect expressed in 38 forms entirely belonging to jargon (13 forms), argot (8 forms) and slang (17 forms). The results of the writer's analysis of jargon, argot and slang can be applied in real life, for example as humans, we must be able to treat fellow humans or living beings well according to their rights, especially in language because each region has different language variations – in fact we must always learn the culture in other people's areas so that we are not trapped in hatred or bad stereotypes of other humans.
