maudyayunda Selamat hari kartini, teman - teman!

Misi ibu kartini patut kita ingat selalu: memperjuangkan potensi dan kemanusiaan perempuan. And this simply goes beyond women's education - but about empowering women as individuals so they can choose, act, and thrive without gender barriers.

She was also such a trailblazer during her time. We forget; she criticized and fought against many things that were considered truths and conventional wisdom at the time. May her journey remind us to always harbor curiosity, seek truth, and challenge injustices that may be hidden in the supposed "shoulds" and "musts" we hear today. :)

maudyayunda I have always believed in the power of stories. Growing up, I immersed myself in storybooks and this truly fired up my love for learning.

My passion for literacy led to Kina's story: a series of children's stories I wrote and released a few years ago, and beautifully illustrated by @kathrinhonestaa. To this day, it always warms my heart to see and hear how Kina has touched the hearts of young readers and parents. 😊

This moved me to self-publish and continue Kina's journey with additional features (activity pages + parent guide). More stories are coming later this year!

Dalam rangka Hari Anak Nasional, you are now able to PRE-ORDER the new extended versions of the two Kina books. The books will ship in August and first 100 buyers will get a signed copy and fun Kina stickers!

And it certainly is not one-sided. Gender equality is not a woman's issue. Its about supporting women, but also about fighting systematic biases that place women at a relative disadvantage.
